

Attevo awarded State Term Schedule in Ohio

June 2008

The State of Ohio awarded Attevo a new State Term Schedule, effective June 30, 2008. A State Term Schedule (STS) is an alternative procurement method to purchase supplies and services, with contracts negotiated between the Department of Administrative Services (DAS) and vendors for use by all state agencies and authorized political subdivisions, including local and regional governments, colleges and universities. Such agencies are able to contract with Attevo through this no-bid environment for technology and related consulting services at favored customer pricing. We are also able to assist other firms to provide services to the State of Ohio as contractors to Attevo.
